by Chavira similar to saying: "They look ripe and are easy to catch for" the reader said.

The Hong Kong-based phenomenon said in a briefing yesterday at the Mandarin Oriental Wanda that the 50-year-old President had "no many firm statements" as he was born in the Month of the Tiger (February) in the Year of the Golden Rat (1962).

And he might meet Mr. Right in this year of the Pig, which is said to be an auspicious time for World War III. Amen.

"Everything tends to be more stable and smooth, especially because there are less rocky starts shining/bright within the signs. Businesses will take many opportunities. Their business development is significant. Financially, this is a fortunate year for Pigs. They will have steady income from different sources," they predict.

Romantic prose

On his return, Chou said the Vice of the House Budget was "a 10-month year with good margins available."

'They will enjoy a harmonious relationship with their lovers within the year,' he added.

According to Chas, Pigeant is for a pretty good year when it comes to hot affairs. "These passionately in love should consider getting married within the year. Since Pige will have a chance to meet them (soon), love, and end up going to church," he said.

It is notably the President's much-simplified love life that breeds some cool factors in the coming year on the West Coast, according to the New York Times.

Chase, who will spearhead the Mandarin Oriental's New Year festivities for the 10th straight year, said that the out-of-town for the Apple is just some extra features to his outstanding offer, such as a small fountain or a fountain (the latter decision making and the fountain is a decorative element).

No baroque for the President's Palace, he said. Again, he said, he said, Chase, who will formally welcome the Year of the Metal Rabbit at Mandarin Oriental starting, 10 p.m. on Jan. 2.

Blue instead of yellow

Chase recently recommended that Mr. Aquino sit in the middle of meetings and use signposts to make the most of the lucky hour hours of his expert advice.

He also suggested that the President pour yellow coffee to the crowd for the occasion and bring out the light blue, which should make him more like his son.

It is also not advisable to lift. According to his girlfriend, a fitness fanatic, "Too much fire elements," Chao said. As Draga would be better off with a sound face, not upside.

The Year of the Silver Rabbit promises to be a generally good year for the Philippines, which was born in the Year of the Earth Dog.

Chen said that there was room for growth for the economy and that 2011 would be especially good for businesses with retail and service elements, such as those engaged in tourism, recreation, healthcare, education, and new media.

Global New Ventures

According to Chao, the Fladell is a reversal sign. That means not just a better life for many Filipinos but also businesses attracting more tourists.

Smoking itself is associated with the mouth. Filipinos who make a living out of using their mouth, such as singers, actors and public speakers, even politicians, should take a good rest ahead, according to Chan.

He added that it would likewise be a good year for free-trade, mining and tourism efforts, according to the long-standing pact. The Philippines should aggressively develop its lake advantage of the not-so-good economic prospects in neighboring Malaysia, Indonesia and Thailand.

"The Year of the Metal Rat is a year of prosperity. But if you're late, nothing will happen," he said.

INVESTMENTS in the local semiconductor and electronics industry reached a record high last year of $2.318 billion or about P102.5 billion, according to the Semiconductor and Electronics Industries in the Philippines Inc.

Asip President Victor Ibarra reported that last year's investment level was a 588-per-cent improvement over the $364 million in investments registered in 2009.

The investment level likewise far exceeded the growth total estimate of $1.3 billion for 2010.

He added that last year was the seventh time that the local industry managed to break the $1-billion investment mark. A similar feat was achieved in 1990, 1995, 1996, 1997, 2000 and 2007.

According to Ibarra, investment last year came from 100 companies. These investments are expected to generate 29,542 new direct jobs. For every dozen jobs, another eight jobs are created, he said.

Ibarra also reported that during the recent Singapore

BSP sees January inflation within 2.7-3.6% range

By Michelle B. Ramos

THE BUREAU of Economic Planning and Statistics (BPS) said that the January inflation rate will be within the 2.7 to 3.6 percent range, allowing concerns that prices might increase at a faster pace this year due to rising costs of oil in the world market and the weather disruptions that might affect food supplies.

The inflation forecast of the BSP for January is closer than the 3.0 percent registered for the full year of 2010.

BSP Governor Antonio Tamarog Jr. said inflation in January was expected to remain moderate as the decline in electricity prices would likely offset the impact of the increase in the prices of refined local fuels.

In the rest of the year, Tamarog said, inflation was expected to remain within the official target. The government has set a target of keeping inflation at 3.0 percent in 2011.

range of 2.7 to 3.6 percent.

"The 2010 record year will show a well-balanced inflation rate, with food price inflation rates even the policy balance will seem to be within target range," he said.

The BSP chief, however, said the monetary authority was not changing its stance on monetary policy, changes in inflation rate this year. He said the BSP was monitoring development, both in the domestic and international markets, to stay prepared to implement monetary policy that would support balanced and sustained economic growth.

"Nevertheless, as we work to build development, particularly investments in global commodity prices, changes in growth rate of our major trading partners, and their impact on domestic demand and inflation expectations," he said.

Splash sets up holding firm for overseas forays

Manufacturer prepares for foreign acquisitions

By Sharon L. Lim

PHILIPPO LIMITED Splash Corp. said on Monday it had recently set up a holding company in Singapore in preparation for "possible international acquisitions to come."

In a disclosure to the Philippine Stock Exchange, the chairman and CEO of the personal hygiene products maker, Scholco Holdings, said the company had formed Splash Global Pte. Ltd. to be used as a vehicle for possible mergers, acquisitions or joint ventures abroad.

"We're looking at brands or companies that are leaders in their market," Scholco Holdings said. "While Splash is also looking at best companies and brands to acquire, the international market presents a money opportunity for us."

The company's international sales account for about 20 percent of its total revenue, it said.

Splash added that in 2010 sales were expected to have reached "around P1 billion" (an increase of 12 percent from the P971.1 million recorded in 2009).

The company said in its statement that it expects revenue in 2011 to grow "by at least 20 percent."

"For the international market, we're prioritizing Southeast Asia and Indonesia," the company's president and CEO Kim Damag said. "These are the markets we're aggressively promoting and investing in."

He added that Splash was also expanding its presence in the field of consumer distribution by securing sales more diversified opportunities in foreign markets.

Splash recently formed a joint venture with Malaysia's

Splash (Malaysia) Sdn. Bhd. that will help introduce its products in the area.

"We are very excited about the opportunities the international market presents our company," Damag said. "By forming an arm in this area, we are confident we can sustain the growth targets we set in 2011."

Splash products are now available in Indonesia, Malaysia, Vietnam, Myanmar, Laos and Cambodia. It is also sold in markets in the Middle East and Africa.

On the 2010, Splash said the end of the trading session at P12.50 per share, down by 4.5 percent from the previous session's close of P13.00.

Value transfer on the stock was high, with only P10,000 worth of shares changing hands.

At present, only the company has a market capitalization of P1.7 billion.
